

Angelika Prucnal

392b Finchley Road, London, NW2 2HR
+4407547672464 angelika.prucnal@yahoo.pl

PROFILE

I am currently studying in the second year of a MSci Computer Science degree at City University of London and am seeking an internship opportunity in the computing sector. During my degree, I have developed strong problem solving and organisational skills due to successfully managing the heavy demands of my degree assignments whilst also working as a full-time duty manager in hospitality. As a result, I am fully capable of working under pressure, as well as understanding customer and business needs in different sectors. I am looking for a fast-paced, challenging environment within the technology industry to utilise my business and programming skills and further develop my knowledge in industry.

EDUCATION

City University of London, London, UK | MsCi Computer Science 2018 - 2022

First Year Modules: Introduction to Algorithms 70.9%, Mathematics for Computing 79.4%, Systems Architecture 84.3%, Programming in Java 73%, Databases and Web Development 61%, Operating Systems 71.5%.

Second Year Modules (grades unknown): Professional Development in IT, Programming in C++, Object Oriented Analysis and Design, Data Structures and Algorithms, Language Processors, Computer Networks.

IB World School no 006265, Cracow, Poland 2015 - 2017

Grades converted to GCSE system: A* in Psychology SL, 5 A's in Mathematics, Biology and English Higher Level, Chemistry and Polish SL. Overall score - 37 IB points equivalent to AAA.

TECHNICAL SKILLS

Advanced level:

- ❖ Microsoft Office skills
- ❖ Javascript, CSS
- ❖ Object Oriented programming using UML

Intermediate level:

- ❖ Game development using Java
- ❖ C++
- ❖ SQL database and ecosystems such as JUnit, Spring and Gradle
- ❖ MatLab
- ❖ Writing algorithms in pseudo and Java code
- ❖ Visual Paradigm and Visual Studio

NON-TECHNICAL SKILLS & EXPERIENCE

- Language skills - English and Polish - fluent, Italian and Spanish - beginner level

- Start Up and Entrepreneurship skills – Through attending Start Up seminars at City University, I have learnt the importance of business planning and key focuses whilst developing and pitching an idea. I discovered the differences between branding, marketing and PR and how to use them appropriately. Furthermore, I have gained knowledge about acquiring funding and how to cooperate with investors.

Shift Manager, JD Wetherspoons; London, UK

2017 -

Present

As a full-time shift manager, my job primarily involves leading my team and delegating tasks in order to run shifts smoothly and effectively in line with overall company objectives. In order to do that, I co-operate with colleagues, from associates to other managers, making sure we work together as a whole team. As a duty manager, I take responsibility, not only for all staff members, but also customers; resolving their complaints and making sure an excellent customer service is provided at all times. I am usually also in charge of running the business side of the pub involving placing orders and accepting deliveries, scheduling any preparation works, performing staff training and inductions and ensuring health and safety procedures are followed on a daily basis. Working in hospitality has taught me the importance of team work and organisation, as well as acknowledging other people's skills and using them in order to work in an efficient manner. Successes make me proud and motivate me to work harder and create new goals, such as improving the overall rating of a pub in TripAdvisor and increasing sales for the company every financial period.

Volunteer, Vistula Model United Nations, Cracow, Poland

2015 - 2017

As a volunteer at Vistula Model United Nations during my IB Diploma course, I was responsible for managing large events and taking care of guests arriving from different countries, making sure they felt welcome and comfortable in Poland. I took care of planning their stay, not only relating to the event itself, but also ensuring that they experienced Polish culture, through various activities, during their trip. I enjoyed helping delegates and resolving any problems during their visit. This experience taught me that it is vital to recognise cultural differences and learn about diversity, as well as the real life applications of communication and language skills. I successfully managed groups of attendees at the events through using clear instructions and scheduling each day effectively.

Inline Skating Coach and Sports athlete, Powerslide, Poland

2012 - 2015

As an International Sports Athlete, as well as an Inline Skating Coach, I had the chance to participate and work in multiple sport events that were spread across the world. I was not only training and practicing my own skills in order to improve, but also I was teaching younger professionals to help them achieve their own success. During my career, I realised how important it is to stay focused and motivated on achieving one's goals and that it is crucial to divide tasks into smaller subtasks and paying attention to detail as well as staying open to constant change and improvement.

INTERESTS

I am deeply enamored with travelling and learning about different cultures. I have visited 30 countries and I am only looking forward to seeing and learning more. I also enjoy reading business and psychology articles about women in tech and business industries, from websites such as WomenOnTopp or Harvard Business Review, as well as keeping up to date with the latest healthy lifestyle products. Furthermore, I recently joined a LGBTQ+ Society and, as a member, I enjoy networking, and being a part of social events and meetings with likeminded people. I also enjoy intense sports such as snowboarding, gym, or CrossFit. I also enjoy slower paced activities such as sailing, as they all help me to stay fit and on track with my goals, as well as sometimes to clear my mind and decompress.

REFERENCES AVAILABLE ON REQUEST