

Anveshan 2024

1. Congratulation on winning the Zonal Round! Join winners from all zonal rounds to present your research proposal to an AIU-appointed jury.
2. Await approval from your University Co-ordinator¹. If your university does not have a co-ordinator or if you need any clarification or help, email AIU team (anveshan.aiu@gmail.com) or the International convention co-ordinator² and clearly outline your name, team name and university name in all correspondence.
3. Organise your travel arrangements to the international convention venue. Please consult your University Co-ordinator (or an appropriate administrative person in your university, if your university has not nominated a co-ordinator) to see if your university will organise or reimburse your travel expenses.
4. Arrive at the international convention venue on time. The host university will organise your accommodation free of charge. Please email your arrival and departure dates/times to the international convention co-ordinator to help them organise your accommodation accordingly.
5. Pay the registration fee of Rs. 500/- (per participant) to the host university during the international convention. The international convention co-ordinator will announce details on how to make the payment during the convention.
6. Email the AIU team (anveshan.aiu@gmail.com) or the international convenor if you need any further information.

All the best for your International round!

- 1) The international convention co-ordinator is:
Dr. Sanjeev Verma
